Catwalk Trends

Be inspired this autumn. But be yourself. And if you're looking for this season's hot new designs, head along to H&M where all the latest catwalk trends carry accessible price-tags.

Opposites attract – and that's what this season's styles are all about. Contrast and diversity. Layer upon layer. Retro-chic combined with futuristic fun. Romance blended with rock-star glamour. British classics with a twist. It's a masculine-feminine pick 'n' mix this season. And that means fusing fabrics together – tweeds with fake fur trims and collars, corduroy with cashmere, moleskin with mohair while the denim-with-velvet love-affair just goes on and on.

Conjuring the feminine fashions of the 1920s and 1930s is easy with pin-tucks, cap sleeves and wraparound tops paired with pleats and shorts jackets. A georgette or voile blouse looks wispily romantic while a tied top with a flippy skirt will see you through from day to night.

Wear a baby-doll top with a check skirt and patterned tights for stylish contrast or team a floral jacket with tight, knee-length pants. Ankle socks worn with high heels are the business and you can pull that wool cap down to your eyes.

For an urban-tough look, wear a belted denim skirt with knee-boots. A short, tie-belted herringbone jacket looks retro-smart. Or throw a pinstripe jacket with a huge lapel corsage over denim jeans. Coats are key essentials – especially leather or tweed – and accessories are also hot news. So get up close and personal with brooches, beads and bangles. And remember to add long gloves.

Create Your Own Style

As autumn cools into the pre-Christmas party season the great annual dressing-up, going-out excuse presents itself again. Creating your own personal style is easy at H&M where hot new ideas at the best of prices arrive daily.

Designs and colours are inspired by movies, magazines and music along with the latest catwalk trends. Like a rock anthem melting into a lyrical ballad, this is a season where checks segue into stripes, patterns merge with florals and where fabrics fuse and blend as never before. After 6pm it's all change as fur jackets and leather coats reveal cocktail chic and party glamour. Styling is feminine and flirty this season with influences from the 1930s such as Art Deco print patterns. Georgette dance dresses are thin as air while lurex twin-sets and taffeta skirts create a flirtatious mood. Net or lace stockings get noticed. So do draped or décolleté tops sparkling with sequins, pearls and cut-glass details.

Retro rock-chic is also big this autumn. When did we last see bell bottom trousers? The 1970s. But this time round they are high-waisted and flared as wide as you dare. Spangly halter-tops are also here again, teamed with short wispy skirts or tight, sexy denim trousers for cool urban attitude. Let the good times roll with high heels, big ear-rings and a blend of feel-good fabrics – velvet, chiffon, denim and leather. Accessories add glamour to any party outfit. So pile on the bling. And don't forget the faux fur hat.
